

MEN WILL HAVE TO GO TO WORK

Army Will Not Issue Rations to Adult Males Who Are Able to Work.

ECONOMY THE WATCHWORD

GENERAL GREELY'S PLAN OF RELIEF.

San Francisco, April 29.—Major General Greely, U. S. A., today made public the plan under which relief will be distributed by the army to the 200,000 people of San Francisco who, under the present conditions, are unable to provide for themselves. The plans have been very carefully drawn, and they are interesting for the reason that the army has never before had a similar task of such magnitude to perform. It is not a mere distribution of food to poverty-stricken people, but it is the helping even of vast numbers of people of considerable means who now find themselves compelled to take their places in long bread lines.

The following officers are detailed to have charge of the work:

Major Lea, reliever, organization of relief stations; Major C. A. Devol, transportation, etc.; Major C. R. Krauthoff, providing food supplies; Colonel George H. Torney, sanitation; Colonel Heuer, engineering problems.

An officer is yet to be chosen to have charge of the distribution of clothing.

Economy and Prompt Service.

The officers named will, as far as possible, transact their business with each other and with outside applicants direct, the object being to secure an economical and prompt service for the distressed and destitute. A responsible civilian will be placed in immediate charge of each relief station, with reasonable pay and assisted by a paid personnel.

As soon as possible daily rigid inspections will be made of every relief station, and abuses, neglects or mistakes rectified. Charges of waste, deception, theft and improper appropriation of relief supplies have been freely made, and it is claimed that the food supplies furnished are in some cases too lavish in quantity and are being issued without suitable discrimination.

Men Must Work.

The period of extreme distress for food has passed, and at the earliest possible moment the issue of rations must be confined to helpless women and children, and refused to adult males unless they are in sick or enfeebled condition. Issues of luxuries or articles of special diet must be confined to infants or invalids. Any other course will speedily exhaust the very limited means of subsistence now at the disposal of the army and of the national Red Cross society.

Rigid economy is enjoined upon every officer of the army, and the earliest possible work. No indebtedness will be contracted without the authority of one of the officers named. Reports of unusual expenditure must be approved by the division commander. Officers must make such daily record as enable them to make weekly or other reports of the work done, and when the civil authorities resume the work to present a complete and satisfactory report covering the entire operations.

The unburned portion of the city is divided into seven military districts, each with an officer at its head, and in each district there are to be one hundred relief stations.

BAILEY'S PLAN UNDER THE BAN

Republican Senators Said to Be Unanimously Against Non-Suspension Amendment.

ALDRICH LIKELY TO WIN

LIVELY WEEK AHEAD IN THE HOUSE.

Railroad rate legislation continues to hold first place in the United States senate. There are three or four more general speeches to be made on the bill, and when the last one of them shall have been heard, if not before, there will be an agreement upon a time for taking the final vote. This is expected to be about May 10. So far, official notice has been given of only two more speeches, by Senator Clarke of Arkansas today (Monday), and by Senator Daniel, on Tuesday, it is possible that Senators Rayner and Foraker, and even others, may desire to be heard, so that a considerable portion of the present week will be devoted to general discussion.

Several Days for Amendments.

Several days will be consumed in considering amendments under the rule limiting speeches to ten minutes. The intention is to give a week to consideration of the bill under that rule, and as this consideration will necessarily be postponed until the close of the general debate the effect may be to delay the final vote, but not for more than a few days at most. Senator Tillman's intention is to ask for unanimous consent on a day to be named and then if this is secured to allow the senate to decide for itself how much time it will devote to amendments. So far about seventy amendments have been suggested, but it is not expected that a great many of them will be seriously considered. Attention will be concentrated largely upon the court review question.

Aldrich Getting Them.

Senators generally say that some kind of review provision is probable, but predictions as to which of them will be chosen range all the way from Senator Lodge's to Senator Foraker's suggestion. It is claimed that there will be a solid Republican vote against Senator Bailey's non-suspension provision.

The real legislative work of the national house of representatives on the agricultural appropriation bill will begin this week. The general debate on this measure took a wider range and occupied considerably more time than had been expected. The two sides of the tariff question were laid before the country, and there was little said regarding the bill, although it remained before the house throughout the week.

Suspension Day in House.

Today (Monday) will be given up to the passage of bills under suspension of the rules. Many important bills have been passed in the house this session on suspension days, and with Mr. Williams, the minority leader, objecting to the "unanimous consent" legislation to further the statehood bill, suspension day becomes all the more important. Speaker Cannon has received many more applications for recognition under this order than the house will permit, and it is not unlikely that suspension day may be "recessed" into Tuesday in order that minor matters may be cleared up. One of the effects today will be by the committee on immigration to give the recently reported immigration bill a "right of way" over all other legislation.

The agricultural bill will be taken up Tuesday and it is estimated that two days will be consumed in reading and perfecting its sections. The naval appropriation bill is in waiting, and the plan now is to take it up Wednesday.

The sundry civil bill will be in readiness when the naval bill is out of the way.

Labor Trouble in France.

The gravity of the labor situation in France will be determined by the events of May day. The Federation of Labor has found it impossible to postpone the demonstrations planned for that day, and, though the commercial classes are endeavoring to preserve normal conditions, some apprehension is expressed as to the outcome. The stringent military and police measures, however, promise to minimize disorders.

Interest in the coal mining industry centers in the convention of miners that is to be held at Scranton on Thursday. President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers, having received the reply of the operators denying his last request for an increase in wages, will call a meeting of the sub-salary committee, who, it is expected, will in turn report to the convention. The question of a strike will then be decided.

PRESIDENT'S RETURN.

Washington, April 29.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt, who left yesterday on a cruise down the Potomac river on the Sylph, returned here at 8:20 o'clock this evening and were driven directly to the White House.

SERVICES HELD IN BURNED CITY

Tents and Halls Where Possible—Many Worshipped in the Open Air.

HOMELESS WERE VISITED

MASS CELEBRATED NEAR THE ROADWAY.

San Francisco, April 29.—Scattered congregations were reunited this morning during the hours given over to religious services, which were, in many instances, held in the open air or in tents. Where church buildings were damaged but slightly the people assembled as usual, and where it was possible to secure halls or school buildings roofs sheltered the worshippers. Pastors from various religious institutions, however, visited the camps where hundreds of homeless families are quarantined and in every instance the attendance was large. The clergyman addressed to their flocks words of hope and encouragement, advising them to abide by all regulations and co-operate with the officials who have charge of the city.

Mass Under Elm Tree.

Rev. W. P. Sullivan of St. Mary's cathedral celebrated mass at the base of a great elm tree in the morning. For nearly an hour the tents were almost deserted and silence prevailed while the people knelt in the ashes of campfires. A small table in the doorway of a residence at 2836 Van Ness avenue served as an altar for Father Grant of St. Brigid's church. The people knelt on the sidewalk and in the street.

In the city of tents before the Presidio Archbishop Montgomery celebrated the last mass of the day near the roadway where an unbroken stream of wagons creaked along, carrying provisions for the hungry. The congregation surrounding the tent that sheltered the altar was large, including many officers and soldiers from the neighboring camps. Bugle calls sounded from a distance as the people knelt in prayer, and military messengers on horseback or in automobiles hurried by every few moments.

Archbishop's Sermon.

When the service ended Archbishop Montgomery mounted a chair and read the epistle for the day, commencing: "For unto this you are called; for Christ also suffered for us." In part he said: "We are all suffering under extraordinary conditions and we must face things as they are. I do not think that history records an instance where a city has been so greatly afflicted. It is a pleasure to see, after all that has taken place, that you are taken—with courage, fortitude and patience."

"We are indebted greatly to the civil and military authorities, who have assisted us in avoiding greater calamities, to the mayor and the police; to the army, which was fortunately at hand; to the governor and the state militia. You cannot suppose that a situation such as this could be handled by different branches of authority without the possibility of mistakes, but there is no reason why you should grumble. I am not saying that you are to blame for this calamity has come upon us because of our sins. I am not going to say that, and I should be sorry to believe that we had been so sinful as to need such a shaking as and such a calamity as this. Catholics or not, I advise all of you to remember that you are best served by obedience to authority and that every order is a military order, for which you should thank God."

Knelt on Granite Steps.

At St. Mary's cathedral, which is regarded as unsafe until the damage sustained shall be repaired, the altar was erected in the vestibule and the congregations at the several masses celebrated knelt upon the granite steps.

Services by Protestant clergymen of every denomination were held during the day at Alta Plaza and in other public squares as well as in churches and halls that escaped the fire. In some cases there was simple musical service, the choirs being accompanied by organs secured from private residences.

WORK SUSPENDED FOR THE SABBATH

Officials at the head of the bureau, complaints are received frequently of over sights in supplying stations, but these errors are quickly rectified. Tomorrow the Red Cross people expect to inaugurate individual ticket system in operation, and this will facilitate the plans of the army in the future.

The number of people without substantial shelter has been reduced to a minimum. The housing committee reported today that its work had been almost completed, the applications for accommodations having ceased. The work of the committee has been lessened by the numerous departures of people in tents to other parts of the state. Religious services were held in the open air in many of the saved districts today and in churches that were pronounced safe for immediate use throngs gathered to listen to the sermons of the clergymen.

Concerts at Golden Gate.

Probably the most significant instance of the determination of the officials to bring about a restoration of the order of things, and of the disposition of the people to speedily forget the recent disaster, was the resumption of the Sunday afternoon concerts at Golden Gate. These concerts have always been a "Sunday feature" in San Francisco, and in addition to the excellent program given in the big park, a volunteer band, discourses music for a short time in the "tent city" at Jefferson square. There were some extensions in the electric car service on the streets, and the people in the remote suburbs will tomorrow be afforded quick transportation with water front and points in the burned district where they may be obliged to labor.

Treasury Intact.

The city officials were highly elated today upon finding the contents of the municipal treasury intact. The vaults were located in a section of the city hall which escaped the fire, and when an expert opened the doors this morning he found gold, silver and securities scattered over the floor, but there was nothing missing. The vault contained $5,000,000 in coin and currency; $300,000 in securities of the German Savings bank, and $120,000 of unpaid city bonds.

Shipping is beginning to resume its normal course. There were a number of departures today, and several arrivals, the latter bringing provisions. A lot of fresh beef came from Seattle and was very welcome.

The steamer Imur arrived from Victoria, B. C., with 500 tons of provisions given by the people of British Columbia, and the cargo was admitted duty free.

NEURALGIA CURED

Patient is Now Well and Gives All The Credit to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

That Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure neuralgia there is no room to doubt. So many severe cases of this painful disease have yielded to these pills that the sufferer who is prevented by prejudices from trying the remedy deserves little sympathy.

Mrs. Charles Schultz, of 178 Thomas street, Newark, N. J., suffered for seven years with neuralgia which attacked her heart and which did not yield to the usual remedies. The story of the cure is best told in her own words. She says: "I had scarlet fever and it left me with a weak heart. Then I took cold and a severe pain settled in the region of my heart. My suffering was almost beyond description. I could not talk and the pain caught me at every breath. The awful pains would come on suddenly and I would have to sit right down. I could not walk and would go dizzy for a time."

"I was confined to bed for four weeks at one time and nothing seemed to do me any good. I was under a physician's care for months. He pronounced my trouble a complication of the heart and prescribed for me. The capsules he gave me relieved me for a time but the pain came back again."

"Finally Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me by a lady whose husband had been cured of paralysis by them and I decided to give the pills a good trial. While I was on the second box I began to see an improvement, the pains became less frequent and at last I was entirely cured. This was some time ago but I have had no relapse and have been in good health ever since."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

GOODING HAS

ship have accumulated, together with all the outside help that the anti-Gooding people can render.

Nez Perce Doubtful.

In Nez Perce county there are two Republican factions which hate each other bitterly. Neither apparently has any voice in Gooding, and it is claimed that whichever gets the county will try to make a deal with the anti-Gooding people. The manner in which the governor was ignored by leaders on both sides when he visited Lewiston recently has become the talk of the state.

In Idaho county, the remnants of the five "panhandle" counties, the situation has not become well developed. Both sides claim to be in the lead, but it is conceded even by the Gooding men themselves that the bitterest enemies the governor has in the north are those who supported him most warmly two years ago. Ingratitude and deceit are the charges hurled at him from every side by his erstwhile friends, who claim that as soon as he was seated firmly in the executive chair he proceeded to ignore his friends in an endeavor to place himself in the north. What strength he has in the north, it is true, comes from those who opposed his nomination two years ago, and an example of which is the support of Heitman of Kootenai.

Hard Fight in the South.

Conceding though that Gooding has the worst of it in the north, he is by no means defeated. He has a powerful ally in his enemies a desperate fight in most of the counties of the south is admitted. Ada county, where the Gooding men have hitherto been a political preserve of Mr. Borah, but Gooding will fight for it. The six Montana counties, of course, are for Gooding and will go with him unless it is seen in advance that he is a losing proposition.

Gooding has the state administration and its patronage. Through French he has most of the postmasters and other federal appointees. With Brady's support he has the backing of the state organization. These things count for more in southern Idaho than they will in the north, and there will be a pitched battle in practically every county of the south.

Labor Against Gooding.

Many conservative Republicans who are little identified with either side fear to recognize the postmasters and other federal appointees. With Brady's support he has the backing of the state organization. These things count for more in southern Idaho than they will in the north, and there will be a pitched battle in practically every county of the south.

Democrats Are Quiet.

The Democrats are remaining quiet. Their state committee will meet May 21 and will call a state convention to be held after the Republican state convention. The convention is likely to be held at Coeur d'Alene city, and its deliberations will probably be as placid as the waters of Lake Coeur d'Alene upon whose shores it will meet. That Senator Dubois and his friends will be in control nobody doubts. Dubois will be nominated as the party candidate for senator, and the fight against the Mormon church will be renewed with vigor.

The convention, in all probability, will make no pronouncement against Gooding's contention that the state government won't have to, if Gooding is the Republican nominee, because the union men will vote the Democratic ticket anyway, and wise Democratic leaders see no reason why the party should unnecessarily embroil itself in a fight upon the charge of sympathy with alleged assassins and dynamiters.

Two men are mentioned for governor. They are Chief Justice Crockford of the state supreme court, whose term is about to expire, and who probably will not be nominated for governor, and ex-United States Senator Henry Heltfield of Lewiston, who probably will be. Senator Heltfield was the nominee two years ago, although Gooding beat him. He ran thousands of votes ahead of his ticket. Sentiment for Heltfield is strong among the rank and file of the party, and he is satisfactory to the labor unions.

Anything May Happen.

Idaho is an uncertain quantity in politics, and this year anything may happen. Conditions which have prevailed here for several years have thrown it for the time into the Republican party; but the pendulum in Idaho is swinging, as it is in other states, and stranger things have happened than a sweeping Democratic victory all along the line would be.
